Our Washington Correspondence. WASHINGTON, June 20, 1851. on and Prospects of Mr. Webster-The Whig Pennsylvania Convention.

Mr. Webster remains at head-quarters; and, with the rest of the Cabinet, excepting Mr. Corwin, will probably remain to aid the President in the laying of the cornerstone of the capitol extension on the fourth of July. At present the Secretary of State is immersed in the affairs of Nicaragua and Hayti; and by the first Monday in December the President will doubtless have a full and satisfactory account of Central America and San Domingo, to factory account of Central America and San Domingo, to submit to Congress, in his message—full and satisfactory as far as it goes, though it is to be regretted that the government has not the hardihood to go a little further than an alliance of protection with Great Britain, involving a pledge to John Bull that the United States shall not annex any of these new countries. We say this is to be regretted, for it looks like placing the honor and character of our government in the keeping of the government of Great Britain. It is the "entang ling alliance" with John Bull which, of all things in the world, should be avoided. No good can come from it, which could not better be obtained without it; and the thing is full of nitimate mischief and disaster.

Meantime, the question of Mr. Webster's prospects for the Presidency becomes a very important question. He has been waiting, like Mr. Buchanan, for his turn, until there is nothing but the last chance left, for 1852, from all the Freddency becomes a very important question. It has been waiting, like Mr Buchanan for his turn, until there is nothing but the last chance left, for 1852, from all appearances, will be the last chance for all the old politicians. If they miss that, they are "laid upon the shelf," as they begin to suspect themselves. Mr. Webster is among them. Now is his time to be moving. And he has been and is moving with becoming activity and circ unspection. The first object is to head off Gen. Scott in the North. He must be stopped or the calling of a Whig National Convertion will be a more matter of form. If, therefore, in the forthcoming Whig Convention at Lancaster, Pathere should be any resolutions offered urging the efficiency and beneficent operations of the Fugitive Slave Iaw and should such conditions be adopted, it is barely possible that the nomination of Scott may be postponed. If however, the compromises get the cold shoulder, while Scott is advanced as one of the seven wise men of Greece, the time will be pretty well up with Mr Webster, as for as the Whig National Convention is to be responsible.

It is said, however, that there may be no National Whig Convention; and that the field may be left open for nominations, separately, by the whigs of the several States. We expect no National Convention, however, but it remains to be tried whether, if Scott is nominated Fact it remains to be tried whether, if Scott is nominated, without a platform, he will run South of Mason and Dixon, or whether the whigs of the Southern States will not set up Mr. Fillmore or Mr. Webster as the Southern astional whig candidate. Gen. Scott must either give up Seward or the South. He will most likely hold on to Seward, and let the South go. Mr. Webster, then, as a National Union Compromise candidate, may become a necessity to the Southern whigs. The fourer just before us, is full of the largest class of those circumstances which scatter the politicians and wire workers to the winds. With the meeting of Congress we shall begin to have something of the second Purise war.

The completion of the Erle, and the near completion of the Hudson Kirer and Hariem railreads, has induced the whole army of contractors to come to the lobby, and force through the canni bill. They are ready to enter the service of the State under the brilliant banner of the nine millions. They are eager for service. Their implements are on hand and it will be very convenient to transfer their workmen and vehicles from the railroads to the canals. Many suppose that the time never existed when the State would let contracts so advantageously as at the present moment as the contractors are all organized, and fully equipped for the service. No delay would be occasioned in preparations, &c.

Notwithstanding the great desire to make this a short resion, the House adjourned over, soleriday, until Monday, thereby wasting so much of the people a time. It is now certain that another week is to be consumed, and how much more nobody knows, except these whose work the Legislature must perform.

As yet, Mr. Babcock has not introduced his bill, of which he gave notice some ten days since, defining the duties and powers of certain State officers; which being interpreted is an attempt by the Legislature to prohibit the Attorney-denseral, and perhaps the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals has the power to hold all laws in absynance; and if it possesses the authority to pronounce any law unconstitutional it can exercise it over all others. By making such an attempt the friends of the bill schibits a weakness which makes it conclusive that they themselves doubt its constitutionality. They would manifest a greater degree of consistency and course by refusing to interfere with the "powers and dottes of public schibits weakness which makes it conclusive that they themselves to test its constitutionality, they desired undertakes to test its constitutionality, they decided may in the service and others of public affects in this respect, at d if the Attorney General undertakes to test its constitutionality, they decid effects of a stab received a week since at the hand of John Dillon, a white rowdy, who, within the year, has escaped from the consequences of his daring villary, from the supineness of these who neglected to prosecute the offender, even when in custody, from the fear of revenge by his comrades. He is now at liberty, and probably out of reach of justice.

Last night, Stephen Willetts, a colored man, stabbed a paramour of his, Mary Ann Lloyd, while in Alderman Sherman's office, in custody, on a warrant granted on her complaint, in consequence of threast to kill her. She was taken to the hospital, and her wound will probably prove fatal. The woman, after living with him for several years, and having two children had recently been discarded for another favorite. Willett is in custody, but so far from repenting of the attempts of murder, expressed a wish that she would die and rid him of her. Reas and Rumurs—The California Steamers.

The steamer Cherokee arrived last evening (Sunday). and, to my utter astonishment, sails this morning at ter o'clock leaving no one time to write.

There is, however, nothing new, except an absurd rumor in town that the Spanish bark Diana, which left this port two weeks ago with the nine Principe prisoners, for Spain, had been found ashore samewhere on the Florida reefs, several dead bodies and the decks covered with blood, as if the prisoners had risen upon and mas-sacred the crew. All this requires confirmation. No appearance yet of the steamer from New York. The Falcon arrived yeekerday from Chapres, full of Call-fornians, with 140 on the sick list. rumor in town that the Spanish bark Diana, which left

The New Orleans Delta, of the 11th inst., contains the following decision of Judge Kennedy, in the case of Mille Baron, the dansense, vs. Thomas Placide.— The plaintiff was engaged as a sconde premiere dansense. It appears from the evidence that a dansense of that gade cannot be required to take part in upprofessional dances, or dances of any description not appertaining to her grade. The polka, as danced in the "Serious Family," was, therefore, objectionable on two grounds: 1. Because it was a dance in ordinary parior dress and parlor style. 2. Because it was required to be danced, not by the corps de balle alone, but by them and the "gewantes and ordinary actors mingled together. It is of no consequence that the plaintiff, from sheer good nature, joined in that dance a number of times Mille Hidariot peremptorily refused to do it, and her refusal was submitted to as a matter of right. There is no reason whatever for distinguishing between the two. The plaintiff waived he rights for the occasion, but did not surrender them forever. The attempt to prove by a solitary witness, when many must have been at hand who were cognizant of the fact, if it were so, a most unreasonable custom that would bind an actor who once performed in a part out of his line, although by concession, to appear in it whenever after required during his engagement, was signally abortive. The refusal to dance in the "Serious Family," on the night of the 26th of November, therefore, constituted no just ground of dismissal; but the defendant had a perfect right, under a clause of the contract, to dismiss her, even without cause, upon two months' notice. Of course he was at liberty to dispense with her services during that time, but his option in that respect would not deprive her of her salary. The defendant is indebted to her, in addition for back salary, for twenty-seven days in November. Judgment for plaintiff for $30.60, with costs.

New Mineral Discoveries in Maryland. New Mineral. Discoveries in Maryland.—Within the last ten days both lead and plumbago have been discovered in this county. Both are remarkably pure, as we can testify from speciment in our possession; but the extent of the deposites has not as yet transpired, as it remains a secret with the discoverer. It is here worthy of remark, that a hitherto unknown seam of very pure bematite iron ore, has been found near the surface, on the so called "Preston" or "Pompey Smash" tract of land, belenging to the Astor and Washington Coal Companies. It varies in thickness from two feet land, belenging to the Aster and Washington Coal Companies. It varies in thickness from two feet six inches to three feet. About a thousand tons mined on an adjoining lot, the mineral right of which is owned by Messrs. Ford, Armstrong & Pearcy, resulty commands two dollars and lifty cents per ton, delivered on the spot. The cost of mining is not over fifty cents per ton. The remarkable uniformity and fidelity of the stratification of this region, induce the belief that similar deposits of lead, plumbago and iron, exist in all the coal lands of the basin. Truly the mineral wealth of the Cumberland coal field is as yet but imperfectly known.—Cumberland (Md.) Cividian, June 2).

At the time, a man called John McNeal was suspected from the fact of his leaving the city. On Saturday last, McNeal returned to the city from Rochester, and was arrested on the charge by officers Scor and Palmer, of the Eighteenth ward, on a warrant issued by Justice McGrath. He was taken before the magistrate, who committed him to prison to answer the charge.

This the crew refused to do. Whereupon the proper demand was made on the United States authorities here, and the crew (eleven in number) were placed in arrest, and carried to jail, where they will await their trial before the next session of the United States Court in August—Sarennah Republican, 16th inst.

Description of Skamen—A letter from Mr. Wallace, first officer of the whale ship Monongahela, of this port, dated at the Sandwich Islands in April 1sts, states that masters of whale ships touching at those islands have encountered much inconvenience from the descrition of their crews. Congregational Ministerial Convention, and Daniel Weisster.—A correspondent of the Boston Transfer, writing from Bradford, Vt., under date of 20th instant, says:—The Vermont Convention of Congregational Ministers beld their annual meeting here on the 17th, 18th, and 19th inst. A hundred ministers half members and half-spectators, and the crowd of visiters from adjacent towns, would naturally fill up a small village to somewhat of an overflowing. The reports of delegates to other coclesinatical bodies were not the least interesting of these services—particularly that of ex-President Wheeler, of Burlington, to the Old School General Assembly, which are recently at St. Louis. Upon this there arose a question from the abolitionists "about purifying"—they could not tolerate the idea of holding such collegates belong the services as usual, (next year to Charleston, S. C.) The vote was at length taken by year and nays, and the question decided to continue the correspondence with a pro-savery body. The vote was at length taken by year and nays, and the question decided to continue the correspondence, and send delegates, as usual, (next year to Charleston, S. C.) The vote stood 21 to 4. At this result, quite unexpected to the abolitionists, one of the minority arose and said: "i withdraw from this Convention forever, for I can no longer hold fellowship with a body in lengue with Daniel Webster and the Bovil." The convention passed a resolution denouncing the use of tobacco, which, as you remarked upon a similar vote at Boston in May, will probably and in smoke. Generally, the harmony, the fraternal greetings and the true Christian feeling manifested at the meeting, were very delightful. The meeting was closed by a sermon, and the administration of the Lord's Supper.

The Gold Mines of the Gila.—We have been informed by Mr. Dykeman who lately returned from California, that the statement made by Lieut. Emory, in his report, that gold had been found on the Gila, is confirmed by some of the Train emigrants who travelled by the Gila route to San Diegs. He says that Mr. Rose, of San Antonio, washed the sands of the Gila within sight of the villages of the Maricopas Indians, and found large quantities of gold. He could easily wash out ten dollars worth alay, but as the Apaches were constantly prowling about his camp, he was compelled to abandon it. Mr. D. met with the head chief of the Apaches at one of the frontier towns of Senors, who informed him that there were lammense quantities of the "yellow metal" in the country north of the Gila but that the Apaches would not permit the Americans to settle there.—Heurism (Taxus) Telegraph, June 6.

Santa Fr. Trader.—The Kansas (Mo.) Ledger, of May 30, has a long list of names of extendive traders, who had either started that week, or were an the point of starting, with their trains of wagons from that place to Santa Fe, or other places in New Mexico. The Ledger adds:—We presume that not less than 300 wagons have left Kansas this spring for the plains, most of which have gene to Santa Fe. The trade between this point and New Mexico is rapidly increasing Already not less than 1,500,000 pounds of freight for that country has been landed here, and shipped for its destination, and there is yet much to arrive from St. Louis.

The corporate name of the "Leggatts Gap (Pa.) Rail-road Company" has been changed to that of the "Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company." It will be borne in mind that the extension of the Morris and Essax road is to be made with a view of uniting it with the former, which is forty-five miles in length, terminating at the Lackawanna Iron works, and the Providence coal mines. From this point a railroad is intended to be constructed at Elmira, a distance of sixty-four miles; there to intersect the Eric road, lossening by many miles the distance from Lake Eric to New York.—Newark Advertiser.

From the uncommon medical advantages the author has enjoyed, amongst which is would instance having resided everally years in Paris for the express purpose of studying these desired and the street of the express purpose of studying these observations of the express purpose of studying these obtained from any other course in a cure, than can be stricture, and in the deplorable consequence of a case of stricture, and in the deplorable consequence of a case of stricture, and in the deplorable consequence of the case when the stricture is a superior of the stricture, and in the deplorable consequence of the severest character often attended with serious complications, he has never found incursible, though they may require some perseverance. Those who apply in the earlier stage of private diseases will be gratified by the ease and rapidly of the cure, which is often effected in a very fier days. It has been a matter of surprise to some, that any one of respectability and of professional attainment should devote his attention to diseases which people of every description prefend to cure so casily. If, however, the miserier these people bring upon society were known, a very different agains to would be formed. Separate rooms are provided for those who may have to wait.
